W. DIVISION

"W" Division is responsible for the maintenance and stowage of Midway's ordnance and are staunch supporters of "Midway Magic". They are tasked with maintaining numerous safety qualifications and must continuously receive formal technical training to meet the rigorous requirements demanded by a program that has no margin for error. They also provide weapons quality assurance support to the Air Wing during loading evolutions, and provide technical advise to strike operations. "W" Division is a major contributor to Midway's outstanding weapons readiness. They performed superbly during the past two Navy Technical Proficiency Inspections. In addition, they take special pride in being the only "W" Division in the Navy that routinely offloads and onloads weapons at sea. Their high morale and professionalism keep the "Magic" alive.
